Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow : (Q. No. 7 to Q. No. 11)

The simple fact of unbroken continuity of ancient Hindu traditions is no big deal in itself. For tradition, after all, may become a burden and clinging to some outdated traditions may be an obstacle to progress and development. The caste system, for instance, is often cited as an obnoxious tradition associated with the Hindu civilization which tends to split the Hindu Society. But the caste system was only a social arrangement as distinguished from religious arrangement in the old Indian society envisaging an occupational division of labour. It was mentioned as "Verna" system in scriptures as an existing fact of social life and was not a part of Hindu religious system. The following verse of Rigveda suggests that a person's occupation was not necessarily determined by that of his family even in those times : "I am a bard, my father is a physician, my mother's job is to grind the corn." And all apostles of Hindu family of religions from ancient to modern times have categorically rejected caste based distinctions between man and man.

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow : (Q. No. 12 to Q. No. 16)

People moan about poverty as a great evil; and it seems to be an accepted belief that if people only had plenty of money, they would be happy and useful and get more out of life. As a rule, there is more genuine satisfaction in life and more happiness obtained from life in the humble cottage of the poor man than in the palaces of the rich. It is because I know how sweet and happy and pure the house of honest poverty is, how free from perplexing care and from social envies and jealousies – how loving and united its members are in the common interest of supporting the family.

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow : (Q. No. 17 to Q. No. 21)

The capitalist system of society does not foster healthy relation among human beings. A few people own all the means of production and others though nominally few have to sell their labour under conditions imposed upon them. The emphasis of capitalism being on the supreme importance of material wealth, the intensity of its appeal is to the acquisitive intensity. It promotes worship of economic power with little regard to the means employed for its acquisition and the end that it serves. By its exploitation of human beings to the limits of endurance its concentration is on the largest profit rather than maximum production. Thus, the division of human family is done on the basis of economic circumstances. All this is injurious to division of human dignity. And when the harrowed poor turns to the founders of religion for succour, they rather offer a subtle defence of the established order. They promise future happiness for their present suffering and conjure up visions of paradise to redress the balance to soothe the suffering and the revolt of the tortured man. The system imposes injustice, the religion justifies it.

17. Capitalism is injurious to human relations because it divides society into groups, i.e.

- (a) working and non-working
- (b) exploiters and exploited
- (c) religious and irreligious
- (d) buyers and sellers

18. In a capitalist system of society each man wishes

- (a) to acquire maximum wealth.
- (b) to donate maximum wealth.
- (c) to have vision of paradise.
- (d) to soothe the suffering of others.

19. The passage indicates that the capitalist system is

- (a) fair
- (b) ambitious.
- (c) prosperous
- (d) dehumanising

20. The established order is supported by religion to

- (a) alleviate the suffering of the poor in the capitalist system.
- (b) end the injustice imposed by the capitalist system.
- (c) balance the suffering of the poor with hopes of future rewards.
- (d) help to the tortured man to seek redress.

21. In the capitalist system :

- (a) the means justify the ends.
- (b) the ends justify the means.
- (c) the means endorsed by religion are strictly followed.
- (d) means which lead to exploitation are strictly prohibited.

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow : (Q. No. 22 to Q. No. 26) we shall redeem our Long years ago we made a tryst with destiny, and now the time comes when we shall fulfil our pledge, not wholly or in full measure but very substantially. At the stroke of the mid-night hour, when the world sleeps, India will awake to life and freedom. A moment comes, which comes but rarely in history, when we step out from the old to the new, when an age ends, and when the soul of a nation, long suppressed, finds utterance. It is fitting that at this solemn moment we take the pledge of dedicating to the service of India and her people and to the still larger cause of humanity. At the dawn of history, India started on her unending quest, and trackless centuries are filled with her striving and the grandeur of her success and her failures. Through good and ill fortune alike she has never lost sight of that quest or forgotten the ideals which gave her strength. We end today a period of ill fortune and India discovers herself again. The achievement we celebrate today is but a step, an opening of opportunity, to the greater triumphs and achievements that await us. Are we brave enough to grasp this opportunity and accept the challenge of the future ?
